PROJECT PROFILE

Natural Wood for Minimal Maintenance and High Durability

An Americana™ client in South Africa was seeking a durable, natural wood focal point for their backyard landscape. The client's desire was for minimal maintenance, so the easy choice with Americana was to refrain from using any kind of finish on the wood, allowing it to grey naturally. This photo shows the client's pool surrounded by beautiful, natural Americana ash decking approximately 6 months after installation. We're glad to say our client remains extremely satisfied with the condition of their Americana real wood product even after heavy use and constant exposure to the elements.
